

The D. J. Kaufman HALF-PRICE SUIT SALE

—Started Yesterday, and We Had
—The Busiest Day of the Season.

If you don't know what our half-price sale means—just ask any man who has attended one—he'll tell you it's the greatest opportunity to save money on good clothing that's offered during the season. He'll tell you it means that the suits are honestly sold at exactly half the regular prices—and that it'll pay you to buy two or three suits. This being the biggest man's clothing business in Washington—the assortments offered are naturally the largest and best. You pick from all the small lots of two and three piece suits in fancies, blacks, and blues—and every suit is worth double the price you pay. Get in to-morrow.

ON MILLENNIAL TRAIL

Ice Men Show No Signs of Backsliding.

MORE EVIDENCE IS GATHERED

Intercepted Wireless Telegrams Indicate that Permanent Halo Will Have Settled Over Washington by Time Next Congress Meets—What the Wireless Waves Are Saying.

Despite fears in certain quarters that the publicity given by The Washington Herald yesterday morning to the promising signs of a millennium would nip the prospects of that glad day, there was no abatement of the good work on the part of the ice men, and the day closed with the people continuing in high hope.

Joy still reigns in Anacostia and around Iowa Circle, with all the rest of Washington waiting and praying for the infection of corporation goodness to spread. Everybody appears eager to help along the full-measure disease. City Health Officer Woodward, who never lets any contagion get by him without sounding an alarm, says he will not quarantine against the full-measure disease, and the justices of the District courts will take to the woods and the beach without leaving their address so that an injunction cannot issue.

One of the first effects of the publication in The Washington Herald yesterday morning of the sweet tidings from Anacostia and Iowa Circle was to send thousands of suffering householders down into their basements to see if the gas meter had undergone any enlargement of the heart. Although the unpopular tin box attached to the gas pipe kept up its ominous click-click with heartless regularity, and maintained its swift pace, the householders did not give up hope, but decided to wait until the first of the month to see what the yellow slips will say.

Some Intercepted Aerograms.
That this hope which sprang in the breast of the householder is not baseless is evidenced by the following wireless telegrams which were intercepted yesterday noon by The Washington Herald operator:

Camp Ordway, Va., July 27, 1907.—See the smoke of the cannon? Follow right behind him and try a secret rule on the P street line for a starter. Mine cars ordered.

Manager Gaslight Co.—Cut gas at once to 75 cents and give the man who has a gas meter about his gas bill a show for his white alley. J. R. Mc.

District Building, July 27.—Water Superintendent: Don't monkey with the wells until you first get the money from Congress to dig new and deeper wells. Remember the old saw about a well in hand being better, &c. COMMISSIONERS.

Washington, July 27, 1907.—Marshall Collins, Glen Echo: Meet us at Shomaker's so we can get your measure for a living cup to excommunicate our decision to your speed limit.

WASHINGTON AUTOMOBILE CLUB.
Raleigh, N. C., July 27, 1907.—Finley, President Southern Railway, Asheville, N. C.: Reported here some of Washington are giving full measure. What do you know about that?

GLENN, Governor.
Asheville, N. C., July 27, 1907.—Gov. Glenn, Raleigh, N. C.: That settles it. Millenium must have set in. Southern will put in 24 cent rate in North Carolina as fast as new schedules can be printed.

FINLEY, President.
Secretary School Board: All debate hereafter cut down to one-minute talks; no member to have more than one shot on any one subject. OSTLER.

Mr. —: Yes, after this you will be able to see the ponies run without dodging the butcher, baker, and loafers and the rest of the menagerie. BAKER, District Attorney.

Sporting Editor: We are going to run up our average in a way that would make a gas meter dizzy. This from CANTILLON.

And thus the evidence piled up all day long that by the time Congress meets next December a halo will have settled over the nation's Capital; the only implement of measure will be the Golden Rule, the scales of Justice will rust on their pivots for lack of weighing to do, Congressmen will reduce their own salaries, and the aged department clerk will retire on a pension.

JUNIORS FOSTER FINE IDEALS.

Machinists Will Have Something to Say to Women on Excursion.

Members of the lodge of Junior Machinists, No. 17, made up of young men employed at the navy yard, have arranged for an excursion to Marshall Hall to-morrow. The Junior Machinists are not only good workmen and enjoy the confidence and esteem of their superiors, but it seems to be evident that the majority of them are casting longing eyes toward that period of adulthood when they can be classed as real machinists.

On their cards of invitation, after making several statements about the attractiveness of the place and the occasion, is included the following:

We promise to be husbands who will not scold; We'll love you when you are plain and old; We'll never at another girl wink. And promise faithfully never to drink. We'll keep whole doses on our wives' feet. And give them something that's fit to eat.

It is understood that the Junior Machinists have in mind to start a social club, as a means of improving the appearance and manners of the members, and incidentally to help along the cause so deftly put into the invitation to the excursion. It is said to be the intention of the members to talk it over with the young women of their acquaintance on the day of the excursion.

CHANGES IN GOODWIN'S STAFF.

Post-office Legal Department Employees Promoted All Along Line.

Upon the recommendation of Judge Goodwin, assistant attorney general for the Post-office Department, the following changes have been made in the personnel of his office:

Richard M. Webster, of Kentucky, senior assistant attorney, is appointed special counsel, "to advise, assist, and represent the Post-office Department in cases involving the second class mailing privilege." Mr. Webster is succeeded in the office of senior assistant attorney by Paul V. Keyser, of Iowa, junior assistant attorney. Edwin A. Niese, of Pennsylvania, law clerk, succeeds Mr. Keyser. Elmont B. Hazard, of the District of Columbia, is promoted from law clerk, at $1,000, to law clerk at $1,800; Grover C. Wilmet, of Texas, from law clerk at $1,400 to law clerk at $1,600; John A. Nash, of Pennsylvania, clerk, from $1,000 to $1,400; Pleasant F. Graves, of Texas, clerk, from $800 to $1,000.

PLAN TO SAVE WELLS.

Cold Water Association Arranging for Mass Meeting.

At a meeting of persons interested in preserving the wells of Washington, who call themselves "The Cold Water Association," yesterday in the office of A. B. Webb, it was decided to hold a mass meeting to agitate the subject of saving the wells. This meeting will be held at Pythian Temple Thursday evening, August 1, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. It was also decided to ask the aid of the press, the clergy, and all the civic and patriotic organizations of the District of Columbia in a general campaign in favor of the wells.

A general discussion of the subject is proposed at the mass meeting, and it is expected that ways and means will then be decided upon, first, to induce the District authorities to recede from their attitude toward the wells. Failing in that, it is proposed to inaugurate a movement toward securing the passage of a law by Congress which shall restore the pumps, which the Commissioners of the District have ordered removed.

The call for the mass meeting is signed by B. M. Mundell, chairman; A. B. Webb, Samuel De Nodrey, and M. L. Davis, committee in charge of the meeting.
